DETAILED ACTION

1. This application has been examined. The terminal disclaimer filed 3/29/07 has been entered.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bergsten et al (2003/0001907).

4. Regarding claim 1, Bergsten et al show: an apparatus for generating a user interface for display on a display device, the apparatus comprising a processor programmed to generate a user interface (Figures 1, 2) comprising the following elements: a main folder containing a plurality of elements and at least a first sequential subfolder containing a plurality of elements linked to main folder (Figures 4, 5, para 7, 9, 21); a fixed focus pointer that selects one of the plurality of elements of the main folder in response to interaction of a user and at least one moveable focus pointer that scrolls through the plurality of elements of the at least first sequential subfolder to select one of the plurality of elements in response to interaction of a user (para 11, 21, 25). The elements of the first sequential subfolder are presented in a form of a carousel in the sense that they repeat and circulate (para 25).

5. Regarding claim 2, one element of the carousel creates a buffer for elements that are not presented (para 11).

6. Regarding claim 3, the element has a fixed position (para 21).

7. Regarding claim 4, the buffer element is placed in the middle of a rear carousel segment (para 11).

8. Regarding claims 5-6, the element may be visible or not visible (Figures 4, 5, para 21, 25).

9. Regarding claim 7, the element indicates the number of elements in the buffer (para 11).

10. Regarding claim 8, a diameter of the carousel is adjustable (para 25, the distance is variable).

11. Regarding claim 9, the diameter of the carousel is adjusted as a function of the number of the plurality of elements of the first sequential subfolder (para 25).

12. Regarding claim 10, the carousel is not fully presented on the display (para 25).

13. Regarding claims 11-13, an uppermost, or lowermost portion, or both of the carousel may not present on a display region (Figures 3-5, para 25).

14. Regarding claim 14, the information of content of elements is visible (Figures 3-5).

15. Regarding claim 15, the elements in the carousel are selectable (para 11, 21).

16. Regarding claim 16, the plurality of elements of the main folder and the at least first subfolder comprise icons (Figures 3-5).

17. Regarding claim 17, the plurality of elements of the main folder and the at least first subfolder may also comprise text (Fig 4-5, para 20, 21).

18. Regarding claim 18, the main folder and at least first sequential subfolder are scrollable (para 11).

19. Regarding claim 19, the carousel rotates on its axis (para 25).

20. Claim 20 shows the same features as claim 1 and is rejected for the same reasons.

21. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Note though that the double patenting rejection has been removed in view of the terminal disclaimer.
